NEW HORIZON

Working on collections seasons ahead often has me dreaming of the places I'll be visiting. With far-flung travel in mind, I developed the Transportive collection, offering an inspired departure.

Earthy expressions provide a fresh perspective for cultural connections and to encourage new collaborations. Key elements such as a palette of carbon, charcoal, baked clay, and burnt umber combine with sculptural, dynamic patterns and cozy textures of bouclé and chenille.

BLOCK

PARTY

Color blocking may have taken rise on the runways, but its applications in décor reach much further. In the Expressive collection, I explore a graphic mix of beautifully soft textures that heighten the impact of artful designs.

The eclectic Abstract Charcoal sees contrasting panels stacked together like layers of a mixed-media artwork. The woven speckled full-face bouclé fabric of Terrazzo Pebble delivers the allure of multi-chipped marble with the eye-catching effect of a Jackson Pollock piece. And the shoreline gradient of chenille in the Transition Camel suggests the brushstrokes of a modern masterpiece.

Stirring Effects

A dose of movement can add major glamour. Within the Neutrality collection, I have pulled from my mood board ideas from distinctive materials and designs with progressive flair.

Sculptural shapes draw the eye with modern poise. Vertical lines of lushly textured woven yarns offer cascading intrigue and a sumptuous hand. And up close the tactile sophistication of a Luxe velvet design in silver reveals surprising richness and shine.

DAWN of NIGHT

The elegance of black monochrome casts visual richness that I find very alluring. Drawing upon inspirations across architecture, art, and fashion, I've developed designs of dimension and texture that reveal engaging depths.

From the modern arcs in white woven across a black distressed ground, to the balanced layers of black and flax bouclé, and a dynamic design of mixed shades in a bold direction. All crafted by hand in the softest performance fabrics.

WHITE

Rosie Assoulin Spring 2023

With its clean organic simplicity, I find white to be a timeless avenue of sophistication and intrigue. In the Serenity collection, I explore white-on-white designs combining a minimal color palette with textural detail that allow the senses to drive a space.

These designs present luxurious textiles—like stunningly soft chenille and lush terry—for textural detail in dreamy shades. Far from plain, these pillows offer refined colorways and endless versatility to be styled outdoors or in any room in the home.

There is something so genuine and soothing about white that I can't get enough of.

Natural WONDER

The leisurely energy of Tulum offers luxurious wellness benefits. Reflecting on the natural beauty of untreated surfaces, woven fibers, and bold lines, I created the Serenity collection, blending the feel of raw materials and earthen tones to create a calming environment.

Evoking sculptural sandstone, Instinct features a raw, weatherized look inspired by abstract art. The horizontal stripes of Sincerity achieved the same effect though with ribbons of bouclé. Color further unites these designs, creating a warm and soothing connection with traditional craft and handmade design.

Lately, denim has broadened its iconic success beyond fashion. An interesting trend I reference in the Composure collection, utilizing an array of indigos to adorn elevated patterns with rich hues that can be styled to create relaxation as well as a feeling of confidence and trust.

Taking blue to another level, these designs provide spaces with an oasis of connection to nature, as the ocean tones set a vibe of cool, classic elegance. Softly explored, denim integrates beautifully with wood, neutrals like black and white, and works within any style—giving definitive characteristics to form and design.
